Repair or Replace? Homeowner Inspection Notes

Use this printable page to organize observations before requesting a gutter inspection. It is not a diagnosis and should not be used to approach damaged roof edges or climb during unsafe conditions.

Publisher disclosure: Katy Gutter Pros is an independent gutter-information and contractor-matching publisher. It does not perform gutter work. Independent providers inspect properties, issue proposals, and complete any work a homeowner authorizes.

Conditions that may support a focused repair discussion

- ☐ one leaking end cap, corner, or connection
- ☐ one loose hanger or short separated section
- ☐ one damaged downspout, elbow, or strap
- ☐ one blocked outlet with otherwise intact runs
- ☐ limited sealant failure
- ☐ a localized slope or low-point concern
- ☐ damage that appears isolated rather than repeated across elevations

Questions to ask

1. What caused the defect?
2. Is surrounding material sound?
3. Will the repair restore intended slope and flow?
4. Is compatible material available?
5. What remains excluded?

Conditions that may support a replacement discussion

- ☐ widespread corrosion, cracking, or deformation
- ☐ repeated leaks across multiple joints or runs
- ☐ recurring separation or sagging
- ☐ extensive damaged fascia or attachment surfaces
- ☐ overflow that continues after outlets and downspouts are clear
- ☐ a layout that repeatedly sends water past the roof edge
- ☐ too few practical outlets for long or high-flow runs
- ☐ multiple incompatible or failing prior repairs
- ☐ replacement needed to coordinate a broader roof-edge project

Questions to ask

Which measured conditions make replacement more practical? Can selected runs be retained? Which related-trade issues must be corrected first? How will outlets, downspouts, and discharge change? What written product and workmanship terms apply?

Proposal comparison reminders

- Compare measured footage, profile, size, material, hangers, outlets, downspouts, extensions, removal, related repairs, cleanup, warranties, and exclusions.
- Do not compare totals until the scope is equivalent.
- Confirm provider identity, service area, current qualifications, and insurance evidence appropriate to the project directly.
- A match or introduction is not an endorsement or guarantee.
